Personal representatives of the Governor will present a vast amount of data, collected principally in Morehouse Parish and bearing directly on the operations of the Klas in that section. As to the alleged attack on Mayor McKoin, who was openly active in Klan affairs, examination of the automobile has convinced these investigators that no one could have been in the machine when the shots were fired and escape injury.

The car was pierced with numerous holes and there is now a belief it was unoccupied when the firing took The inference is that State officials believe the churge against Daniel and Richards by Klansmer that they were responsible for the firing, was simply "framed," the Open hostility to the Ku Klux expressed by the men remains the only other possible motive. Officials point out neither of the two ever had been charged with an offense, and there could have been no idea of "enforcing justice where authorized Government

The fact causing the most disgust among Louisianans over the affair is that in the outstanding instance where the Klan took things into its own hands it hurled its fury as a matter of vengeance on citizens who were guiltiess of orime. Now that manager for a Lounsville automobile the bodies have been recovered and company, had been shot to death last identified, ending uncertainty over the fate of the two men, the revulsion of feeling against Ku Kluxism cording to reports reaching here.

Another unexplained point, though the answer seems to be fairly ovident, involves the discovery of the two bodies in Lake La Fourche last Thursday. An effort is being made to ascertain who placed the charge of dynamite that blew them to the surface of the lake after they had been submerged for weeks. The obvious theory is that Riansmen responsible for the murder, finding the scent hot, attempted to blast the bodies into bits and thus destroy the vital evidence that the two men were dead.

HOODED KLANSMEN PASS OUT GOLD IN JERSEY CHURCHES

Six Appear During Xmas Services in Belleville and Montclair.

Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, in the ghostly uniform of their organization, carrying cross and American flag, visited two New Jersey churches during Christmas Eve services and called upon two Newark men, leaving baskets of Christmas food for their families. The two men thus visited are Catholics.

Six hooded members of the Klan entered the Halian Baptist Church at Silver Lake, Belleville, at 5 o'clock on that evening while the congregation was singing the second bymn of the ervice. The leader bore a tall cross above his head and two others followed carrying an American flag. Three others were in the rear of the procession as it marched to the altar. There the six knelt as if in prayer, The Rev. B. Pascale, conducting the service, asked the men what they meant. The leader replied, "We are just your friends and we come to help you. Will you join us?" With this a letter, inclosing a $1 bill, was handed to the pestor. Then the Klansmen filed out of the church. The Rev. Pascale said that the men, who were large in stature, behaved themselves in an entirely or-derly manner in the church. He added that about two weeks ago he was asked by telephone whether his Rac Christmas Eve service was to be in English. He replied that it would be in Italian. The visiting Klansmer spoke to him in English. They left n two limousines.

A delegation, similarly garbed, and thought to be the same that made the Silver Lake visit, went that same evening to the Italian Presbyterian Church in Montelair. They stood for about twenty minutes in the rear part of the church during service and, after putting two handfuls of coins in a collection box, went their way.

The homes visited were those of Addison Brittes of No. 3 Sheridan Avenue, and Edward Kurtz, No. 6 in the same street, Newark. Tags on the baskets of food left stated that the contents were the gifts of the Ku Klux Klan of Kearny.
